Talks at 12th ICPR to advance search for origin of life Invitation has prompted scientists from the United Kingdom, US and Switzerland to join efforts to uncover the secrets of life's origin Indian scientists from the Department of Biotechnology (DBT) in collaboration with a number of research labs and industrial groups and researchers from the US, UK and Switzerland, are planning to come together in India to discuss the mystery of origin of life. The 12th International Conference on Origin of Life, to be held from July 21-28 at JNU, will seek to discuss the various aspects of the origin of life on Earth and beyond, and promote scientific exchanges between scientists, students and the general public from around the world. "We are going to have an intense 3-day conference focusing on the scientific implications of origin of life," DBT Director K. Padmanabhan, who will chair the event, said. "We are inviting major speakers including Nobel laureates and top scientists across the world to participate. The speakers will deliver lectures during the conference and also lead workshops. "We are also planning to organise a cultural programme in association with Indian Space Research Organisation. The conference will promote scientific exchange among researchers and students to help promote science and technology in India," Mr. Padmanabhan said. There will be a workshop on 'Origins and Evolution of Life', aimed at fostering discussions on the current research activities in the field of origin of life. It will feature talks on various aspects of the study of the origin and evolution of life in the post-genomic era, including viral activities and the role of non-protein nucleic acids as well as protein-RNA interactions in regulating gene expression. "It will be a fantastic event and we are delighted to see that so many great scientists and industrial groups have agreed to participate," Mr. Padmanabhan said. The conference is organised by the Indian Institute of Science Education and Research (IISER) Pune in collaboration with JNU and DBT.
